

Jesus is our Man

Orlando Tolentino

"Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the Lord." (Luke 19:38)

On that eventful day when Jesus entered Jerusalem on Palm Sunday, one might expect that Jesus would enter the city on perhaps on carriage or atop a large, strong horse. He, however instead, chose a small, perhaps scraggly donkey when he entered triumphantly into the holy city. Throughout His life on earth, Jesus was an outstanding man, reflecting both His genuine humanity and full divinity.

Jesus is a study in contrast:

Before He would reign as King, He had to come as a Saviour to die for our sins;

He is the Bread of Life who began His ministry hungering;

He is the Water of Life who ended His ministry thirsting;

He hungered and thirsted as a man, yet He fed the a multitude of people;

He was weary, yet He is our rest;

He paid tribute, yet He is our King;

He was called a devil, yet He cast out many demons;

He prayed, yet He always hear our prayers;

He wept out of love, yet He dries our tears;

He was sold for 30 silver pieces, yet He redeemed us by His blood;

He was led as a lamb to slaughter, yet He is the Good Shepherd;

He gave His life, yet by dying He conquered death forever.

We would expect to find such a man in the life of one who was both God and human, who is Jesus, the sovereign Lord of the universe. He became a man to give His life for our salvation, but we believe that one day, He will return here on Earth as the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords. To Him do we say: You're our Man!
